SERVICEMEN'S CORNER

LETTER FROM A SERVICEMAN:

Biloxi, Mississippi--

Dear Reeces:

Just dropping you a line to let you know that I am still receiving the BRISBANE BYLINE every week.

Not much news down here, except that I'm still going to school every day. Gosh, if I'd enlisted a little sooner, I would have gotten out of school on my birthday, which is April 1st. Oh well, such is life!

I am enclosing a snapshot of me--standing outside of the barracks. Hope you like it. Well, kids--have to close for now as it is almost time for lights out.

Thanks again for sending me the Byline--as I sure enjoy it! Lots of luck, from PFC RICHARD M HATCH.

LETTER TO A SERVICEMAN:

Brisbane, Calif. 4/6/51

Hello, Rickie Hatch!--So darned glad to hear from you, and we certainly appreciate the snapshot. You are our first serviceman to appear on our "Honor Roll" on the window of the Byline office. We have put your snapshot up in the window, and soon we hope to have all of our local servicemen up there----so people can stop saying "Hoo He?" when someone's name is mentioned. Now, all they'll have to do is connect the name with the face, and then they'll know for sure "Hoo He!"

Thought you boys like to know that the BYLINE is also celebrating a birthday this month---we'll be a year old on the 21st of April---and the best birthday present we could receive from all our "boys" is to get letters, snapshots, and news from them. Bet you don't know what we bought ourselves for our birthday, do you? A BRAND SPANKIN' NEW MIMEOGRAPH MACHINE! This one has an automatic counter on it--so the male half of this "combo" will no longer have to stand by the hour and say "one-two-three, etc"--the counter will do it for him. And the new machine is adjustable. In other words instead of just being able to put out one size mimeo sheet,----now we 'll be able to put out post-cards, letters, legal stuff, AND the Byline! (In case you didn't know--the Byline is one-step larger than legal size---8½ X 14).

And now for some news from your other Service-buddies: Eddie Baron is still around, on 30 day leave--and was seen in two scenes in the Marine picture, "Halls of Montezuma". Navy-men Don Robertson and Roy Childress in town on 14 day passes. Mighty handsome in Blues, too!

As ever--Ye Editor & staff.

FOR THE JUNIOR BOOKWORM

THE WONDERFUL PENNY--by Elizabeth Alice Theis---CHAPTER V----

The stranger was dressed in copper-colored clothes made similar to those of a woodland gnome Bunny had once seen in a picture book. And here was a tiny dwarf-man with knee breeches, tight-fitting silk stockings, a leathern jerkin, and shoes of a moccasin type drawn closely around the ankles by rawhide laces which made the tops ruffle gayly.

But the most remarkable thing about the little visitor's clothes was a pair of garters encircling the miniature knees; they were trimmed with tiny bells that jingled gayly, although sometimes a trifle discordantly. A long pointed cap was on the little dwarf's head, the end sagging somewhat from the weight of a bell a trifle larger than the ones which adorned his knees.

Bunny quickly noticed that his little visitor's eyes were quite large, about twice as big as so small a man should possess. The latter's cheeks were ruddy, almost copper-colored too, but two or three shades lighter in hue than his clothes.

But as he pranced across the table the little boy's heart contracted: the Penny Man's left leg was a trifle too short for its mate. "Dear, bh dear!" thought the watching lad, "It's just like my left leg!"

Strangely enough, the Penny Man must have noticed Bunny's thoughts; for he turned and danced gayly back right up to the wondering boy. "Good Eve, little mortal! Let not my infirmity cause you distress. But it's very kind of you to be so campassionate."

"You rather startled me, I must confess. I thought you were only a penny."

"And a bad one at that, eh?" winking slyly. "That's how much that grocer knows. His world is made up of herrings and rye bread; so what should he know of a crippled penny. I want to thank you for rescuing me from the gutter."

"But you owe me no thanks. I picked you up because I thought I could buy something with you," the boy explained--too honest to subterfuge.

"Nevertheless, you didn't throw me back, and that ends the matter. I have been in many lands, but you are the first mortal who ever wanted to keep me", the little man said. "And since you rescued me, I'll try to somehow return the favor."

"I am glad I happened along" young Bunny said. "And I am doubly glad--so now that we have become acquainted, suppose we fare forth to celebrate."

CONTINUED NEXT WEEK.

Mrs. Roy Edwards, who was installed as president for a second term, is the mother of Henry Edwards, seventh grade student, and is the wife of State Highway patrolman Roy Edwards.

Previous to her presidency, Mrs. Edwards served as financial secretary and publicity chairman. She will also represent the unit at the state convention. In recognition of her year's work, the association presented her with several gifts.

Installing the new officers was Mrs. J.B. O'Bryant, unit councellor. She and the outgoing and incoming officers were given corsages made by the Brisbane Garden Club.

An all-time high of 77 members attended meetings of the 17th District this year. It was also announced that the unit will serve coffee and cake at April's open house.

The historian's report was read by Mrs. Alfred Pistohl and the annual reports of the treasurer and auditor were given by Mrs. Frank Record and E. R. Whitson.

Mrs. Helen Hughes, Mrs. Ann Roland, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stone were introduced as new members of the unit.

The barbershop quartet, accompanied by Mrs. Louis Duncan, sang several selections. Mrs. Duncan also played a piano duet with Mrs. Alfred Pistohl.
